Kids perform Children's Christmas Program

Our elementary age children performed the skit "Palm Sunday in Bethlehem?" as their Children's Christmas Program on December 21. We want to thank the Christian Education Committee (Angie Kelly, Christy Legendre, Marla Sebesta and Kim March for directing this event and running multi-media projection. Special thanks goes out to Bobby Zwahr for being our Santa this year. The kids performed a funny, and meaningful program.

Ron's Ramblings

2025: the year of "David"

I have to admit, that King David has been one of my favorite heroes of the Bible ever since I was a kid. Who can forget the epic story of about the battle between David and Goliath. With one little stone—and faith in God—David not only took down a giant, but he proved that he was a man after God's own heart.

This past year of 2025 has been the year of "David" as far as cinema has been concerned. In February Wonder Project/
Prime Video released the first season of "House of David"
TV series starring Michael Iskander in the title role of David.
Season two of "House of David" was released in October.
Both seasons have received critical acclaim and were enjoyed by members of our church who watched the weekly episodes together as a Watch Party.

In December, the long awaited, and crowd funded animated movie, "David" was released in theaters. The film stars Christian singer and song writer, Phil Wickham, as the voice actor for the adult David.

Both the TV series and the movie have told the story of David as epic adventures. Both spotlight David's weakness...he wasn't a natural hero, and was initially overlooked as being one eligible to be the Lord's anointed. Both "House of David" and "David" also portray David as being a man who was steadfast in his reliance upon the Lord, the God of Israel, as the source of his courage and strength. Indeed both the TV show and movie portray David as being a man after God's own heart.

What's excites me most about both the TV series and the animated movie is the way they've penetrated today's pop culture. Suddenly a Bible story has gone mainstream. It's suddenly cool to talk about heroes from the Bible again. Furthermore, both cinematic projects have helped drive people into the Bible as they've wanted to dig deeper into the real story behind the story that's been depicted on the screen.

That was the intention of the creators of both "House of David" and "David." Created by Christians, the creative teams for both the TV series and movie wanted to use their projects to share the truth of the living God of Israel to the masses.

It also helps that both Michael Iskander from "House of David" and Phil Wickham from "David" are outspoken Christians. Both have shared how these projects allowed them the opportunity to live out their faith both on screen and in song (as both actors have released soundtrack albums featuring songs written by the real King David in Psalms). Michael and Phil have been able to stir hearts for worship through the songs performed in their respective film projects.

Indeed, though both the TV series and movie take some artistic license, they also help bring the Scriptures alive to a generation hungry to experience the real God. In 2025 there as been a significant uptick in Bible sales. This corresponds with an uptick in church attendance by younger adults, particularly men, around the USA who are trying to find real meaning in their lives.

As the new year of 2026 arrives, I want to challenge you, if you haven't already, to explore David, both in film and in Scripture. Let his life lessons, his faith lessons, and his Psalms speak to you and lead you in walking deeper and closer with the Lord during this new year.

May David's own words from Psalm 26:2-3 be an inspiration for your relationship with God in the months ahead:

"Test me Lord, and try me, examine my heart and my mind; for I have always been mindful of your unfailing love and have lived in reliance on your faithfulness."

In 2026 find ways to mirror your story with David's so that those around you might find hope in the Lord. Amen.
